Jacksonian's 50 and Better Club House News

January 2017

Volume #16 * Issue #1

Editor: Kathy Voss

We had 298 seniors at our Christmas Dinner. Lots of prizes and fun! We thank all our friends who helped make this special event a success. Your efforts did not go unnoticed.

Snow Closing
We will be canceling our programs whenever the Jackson Public Schools cancel school. Listen to your favorite local radio stations.

WOW! We collected 174 food items for the needy and a gift of money totaling $210. Great job!

Please note that on Monday, January 16 there will not be Senior Center at the Boos Center so we can observe Martin Luther King Day.

Dear friends,
Please accept this little note which is intended to thank each and every one of you who made my Christmas a little bit more special by the token of your gift. I sincerely appreciate your gift. Blessing and good health to you in the new year.
Kathy

Thinking about weight loss after the holidays? Did you know that if you add walking to your daily routine you can boost your metabolism and feel better. Try walking before exercise classes at the Boos Center.

Getting Mama Married! April 27

When Ann Finner's second husband left her 5 years ago for a younger woman, she swore off men forever. Instead of a man, she involves herself with house plants, bridge, puzzles and murder mysteries. Daughter Julie, 20, married to the "unemployable", plans to change all that and encourages her mother to take on several suitors. First there's Ed Finner, her first husband, who she's not seen in 30 years and who's still dumb as ever. Then Mr. Apollo, an amorous, ouzo-drinking, bull-in-the-china-shop Greek mailman. Finally, there's last husband Jack Stanton, whose younger woman left him for another man; and he's as lonely without Ann as she appears to be without him. But they've a lot to come to terms with before the kiss brings them magically back into one another's arms. And Julie couldn't be happier, seeing her parents reunited. A warm loving comedy filled with funny situations and delightful characters.
